1. To assist you in preparing your presentation to the ACSI Tailored Instructional Program seminar course on "Intelligence and National Security," I have attached a set of learning objectives and overview sections for the entire course (less W70014 - Scientific and Technical Intelligence). These learning objectives are taken from the original 1981 version of the course and, along with overview section and readings, have been changed somewhat during the past two years. They should, however, suffice to give you an idea of what precedes your presentation and what the students should gain from the time you spend with them. (In some cases, readings are attached also.)
2. If you have not already forwarded a brief biographic sketch to ACSC/EDCW, Maxwell AFB, AL 36112, ATTN: please do so at your earliest convenience.
3. I will be happy to answer any questions you might have concerning the course. I can be reached at DIA/SX (692-2334) through 13 May and from 20-25 May and at ACSC (AV 875-2611 or Commercial 205-293-2611) from 16-19 and 26-28 May.
4. Please be sure to advise ACSC (Maj Cochran/ AV 875-2611) concerning your travel plans.
5. Your help in this project is greatly appreciated. Many thanks!

INTELLIGENCE AND NATIONAL SECURITY

"Intelligence and National Security" is a 40-hour intensive seminar course offered as part of the Air Command and Staff College (ACSC) Tailored Instructional Program (TIP). The course involves lectures and seminar discussions on the nature of intelligence and the intelligence process, the organization and functions of the Intelligence Community, the relationship between intelligence producers and consumers, the origin, value and use of indications and warning, scientific and technical, and strategic estimative intelligence products, intelligence oversight and the future of US intelligence. Speakers include active and retired military and civilian officials who are serving or have served in senior positions in the Air Force, Defense Intelligence Agency, National Security Agency, Office of the Secretary of Defense (OSD), Central Intelligence Agency, and the US Congress.

The course is designed for officers being assigned to intelligence positions in national intelligence agencies, the Air Staff, and U&S Commands and for officers with assignments to plans, policy, operations, and R&D positions at OSD, the Joint Staff, Defense Agencies, the Air Staff, and U&S Commands where familiarity with intelligence products would be helpful. This is the third year that "Intelligence and National Security" has been offered during TIP. It is the only instruction in intelligence during the entire 10-month ACSC curriculum.
